To highlight the Brazil Programme issues through the production of multi-media
Instituto Update
Institute for Transportation and Development Policy (ITDP)
To improve and accelerate the adoption of low carbon, inclusive mobility and urban development in Brazil.

Agencia Pública
To provide core support to Agencia Pública to promote high quality, non-partisan debate around Brazil Programme priorities.

Movimento de Pimpadores
To provide core support to Movimento dos Pimpadores, an international movement based in Brazil that strives to generate income and promote the invaluable work of waste collectors.

Escola de Ativismo
To provide core support to Escola de Ativismo and strengthen groups working to increase the use of bicycles. Ameciclo was founded in 2013 and today has more than 600 members.

Audisco Auditores Associados S/S
To conduct up to 20 international-standard financial audits (in Portuguese and English) of Oak’s Brazil Programme grantees.

Nucleo de Apoio à Pesquisa e Educação Continuada
To support Oak’s Brazil Programme with staff and logistic support. Oak’s Brazil Programme works to promote the local human rights and environmental movement disproportionate to its size. In order to stimulate equalisation, its focus will be on working, in particular, with men and on masculinities.

Centro Popular de Ensino Popular (CPEP)
To provide core support to Centro Popular de Ensino Popular within the city and the network of expression of Brazil’s disadvantaged communities and popular movements. CPEP promotes human rights in Recife by engaging in strategic litigation, conducting social research, training youth and adults, conducting public debates and producing media content.

Interinverso
To contribute to the population control of the Aedes mosquito, reducing occurrences of Dengue, Chikungunya and other associated diseases. This will be done through the consolidation of the Aedes Trapp System as a tool for community monitoring, increasing awareness and engagement of the most vulnerable communities, especially women, on data collection and prevention/mitigation actions.

Marco Zero Conteúdo
To highlight the Brazil Programme issues through the production of multi-media content.

Rios
To support a database that builds knowledge to better assist policy improvements and peoples safety in Brazilian metropolitan areas. This will prevent life-threatening situations and strengthen partnerships between civil society and public institutions.

Marco Zero Conteúdo will conduct fact checking and investigative journalism to inform public debate around Brazil Programme priorities.

Centro das Mulheres do Cabo (CMC)
To provide core support to CMC to advance its objectives, which include empowering descendants of Afro-Brazilian slaves – and black women in the region of Sertão do Paraiba and the Metropolitan Region of Recife. It does this by strengthening women’s representation and participation in community decision making.

Baobá – Fundo para Equidade Racial
To provide support to Afro-Brazilian civil society organisations that develop and implement inspiring initiatives focused on citizen participation. The aim is to stimulate defensive expertise and knowledge, the awareness of social injustices and associated inequalities. Its focus will be on working, in particular, with men and on masculinities.

Fundo Socioambiental CASA
To enable Fundo Socioambiental CASA to implement its core activities and builders support to Agenda Pública to promote high-quality, non-partisan, investigative journalists in Brazil to help strengthen Brazil democracy. The focus of its core activities is to provide financial support to civil society organisations that work for environmental justice and defend human rights in Brazil, in order to eliminate economic position.

To accelerate the adoption and increase the ambition of climate solutions in Brazil. To promote clean and efficient energy systems and policies which reduce pollution and air quality; and ensuring climate and health-friendly food systems. To reduce the significant health risks posed by climate change. Climateworks aims to expand philanthropic funding for projects that address the impacts of climate change on human health. This will be done by: decarbonising healthcare systems; improving air quality; and ensuring climate and health-friendly food systems. To increase domestic climate philanthropy and support for organisations working on climate change mitigation in India. This will be achieved by establishing a climate-action fund that will be re-granted by SOS CORPO to strengthen local grassroots organisations.

| Citi Foundation | To strengthen the organizational capacity of some of our partners in the US and UK by giving them access to quality services offered by philanthropic consultants. Citi Foundation will work with the selected grantees to increase their capacity and achieve their missions. The support provided through the Citi Foundation’s Opioid and Opiate Crisis Response Grant will help to catalyse the creation of effective governance for solar geo engineering and carbon removal. This will be achieved by including global policy-makers in the conversation and providing strategic advice.

Brazil

- To reduce carbon emissions by strengthening regulations and incentives for renewable energy. This will be done by facilitating pathways to low-carbon energy systems.
- To accelerate the transition from heavily polluting vehicles to clean vehicles in Brazil.
- To support India’s goal of making 100 per cent of its transportation electric by 2030.
- To accelerate citizen engagement and reduce CO₂ emissions, while also addressing social and economic challenges. C40 is a network of the world’s megacities committed to taking ambitious action on climate change and to supporting each other in these efforts.
- To strengthen the leadership capabilities of Oasis partners by facilitating access to quality coaching services. The Oasis Project works to increase the impact of charities and social enterprises by helping them improve their financial management and organisational impact.

To address the challenge of global fisheries sustainability by increasing collaborative actions in China. This project will help China and the MFCC on One Road to advance sustainable development initiatives. The project also seeks to

- To reduce and delay oil and gas infrastructure projects by supporting oil industry and managing climate change.

- To promote freight and rail infrastructure projects by reducing greenhouse gas emissions. This project will help China and the MFCC on One Road to advance sustainable development initiatives.

- To develop communication tools, research and applications to build awareness of air quality management. This will be done with integrated methods and policy tools which will be promoted for use by other organisations and cities. The Energy Foundation works to promote the transition to a sustainable energy future by encouraging energy efficiency and increased uptake of renewable energy.

- To assist and accelerate China’s economic transition towards a low-carbon development path and to guide the MFCC on One Road. This project will help China and the MFCC on One Road to advance sustainable development initiatives.

- To design and launch targeted public campaign actions. This grant will help connect, empower and engage ‘new entrants to the climate movement in strategic climate actions in China. WWF has registered a fundraising entity in China that will help build and public support around: developing low-carbon cities; reducing coal consumption; and transitioning to a green economy. This grant aims to facilitate and mobilise policy mechanisms to advance urban low-carbon solutions and ensure that at least the existing 23 cities and provinces participating in the initiative are on a pathway to peak emissions early.

Refugee Support Trust

To reduce destitution and homelessness in Glasgow among asylum seekers. This will be done by providing a multiagency, integrated support service with increased capacity to offer advocacy, safe accommodation and legal support, and advocating for social change in the asylum system in Scotland. The Refugee Support Trust provides a range of services and support to asylum seekers and refugees living in Scotland.

To enable Project HOME to build quality and capacity within its residential programmes and provide core support to GLC to support its strategic plan and mission. GLC is a community law centre with charitable status providing free legal assistance for people affected by homelessness in Glasgow, Scotland. GHN informs and promotes the rights of homeless people, keeping homelessness alive in the public consciousness ensuring that all homeless people are heard and supported.

To provide support to the NHLP to limit the negative impact of current US federal housing policies at the local level, which benefit low-income and vulnerable people. NHLP provides training and legal support to advocates throughout the UK. NHLP will also explore and research the issue of high rates of eviction in Philadelphia, the US, with a view to improving policy so that levels of evictions are reduced. The expectation is that levels of evictions will reduce, along with the lack of supportive housing and comprehensive services designed for people who have experienced homelessness.

To support PLP in its mission to improve access to public law remedies for those experiencing homelessness. The project will take the following three strands:

1. Identify key trends and challenges:
   - Work with stakeholders to identify the key trends, challenges, and opportunities in the provision of legal services to homeless people.
   - Engage with national and local government bodies to understand their perspectives on access to justice for the homeless.

2. Develop legal tools and resources:
   - Create practical legal tools and resources to support legal professionals and homeless individuals in navigating the legal system.
   - Develop a comprehensive guide for legal professionals on how to effectively represent homeless clients.

3. Community engagement:
   - Organize community engagement workshops to raise awareness about the legal rights of homeless individuals.
   - Foster partnerships with local organizations to provide legal services directly to homeless communities.

The overall aim of the project is to focus upon and provide information about violence. The main aim of the project is to give the network surrounding a family where there is domestic violence some tools to intervene as soon as they become aware of the violence.

The Crisis Centre celebrates its 40 years anniversary in 2018. Danish Welfare Foundation’s strategic focus on domestic violence is working with the legal status of victims of IPSV. Third, with the purpose of reorganising the Crisis Centre and render visible the problem by communicating the stories of survivor women who used the Crisis Centre to escape from violence in relation to the history of domestic violence.

To support the network surrounding a family where there is domestic violence some tools to intervene as soon as they become aware of the violence.

To support the University of California San Francisco’s biomechanics laboratory in assessing the impact of a strengthening program on the enchondral ossification and academic outcomes of young people with learning differences. It will then identify profiles of young people most likely to benefit from monitoring. This grant will also support the international dissemination of research results and free resources that will aid the network in improving their impact on young people who learn differently.

S.T.E.P.P. (Students To Enrich Personal Potential) is a multi-year, evidence-based, learning and career guidance program for high school students with learning disabilities. Students in Project S.T.E.P.P. housed at ECU remain in college at rates that exceed the general university population. S.T.E.P.P. aims for graduation rates of participants with learning disabilities to match or exceed the state graduation rate of the university.

The University of California San Francisco aims to support the Department of Child Health and Development at UCSF to study the impact of a strengthening program on the enchondral ossification and academic outcomes of young people with learning differences. It will then identify profiles of young people most likely to benefit from monitoring. This grant will also support the international dissemination of research results and free resources that will aid the network in improving their impact on young people who learn differently.

To support Child Pact to equip countries in Eastern Europe and the Caucasus to prevent and respond to violence against children and adolescents. This is a joint effort by UNICEF, UNICEF, and Save the Children to implement national policies to protect children against violence around the world. The goal aims to reduce sexual violence against boys and men, including gay, lesbian, and transgender persons. The aim is to help reduce sexual violence in crisis-affected populations, including against women and girls.

To administer grants out of the Children First Fund to support the planning and implementation of strategies to protect children against violence around the world. This grant will be used to support 10th members in 93 countries work collaboratively with partners to protect children against violence and exploitation, and to build capacity.

To support the Global Partnership to End Violence Against Children and partners to deliver policy inputs and increase the evidence base for solutions and advancing action. This one-year project will strengthen Men Engage networks to make a difference in up to 50 countries in 93 countries. Men Engage is a global network of organizations, global networks, other networks and research institutions. It is an operational platform that seeks to develop joint initiatives between networks and others.

To use the power of information and storytelling to exchange the story on sexual exploitation, child labor, and violence against children. This grant will be used to support 10th members in 93 countries work collaboratively with partners to protect children against violence and exploitation, and to build capacity.

Children & the Arts
To increase access to the arts for children and young people across the UK and ensure that arts education is a viable career path. This charity’s mission is to give children a more fulfilling, creative and enriched life through cultural experiences, while building their confidence and increasing aspirations.

Goldsmiths, University of London
To support Goldsmiths, creating a centre to deliver new museums programmes - a programme which aims to open doors to educational and personal growth for all students in Chatham County Schools in North Carolina.

Courtauld Institute of Art
To support the Courtauld’s Young Researchers and Valediction Programmes, which offers awarded from distinguished socio-economic backgrounds in London greater access to art, history and expertise available from this leading academic institution. The project aims to reinforce the way in which history taught to young people and to offer them an alternative career development path that would otherwise be inaccessible to them.

University of London
To support the Windmill Hill Children’s Hospice. The Hospice will be providing services to children under 16 in Bath and help provide care to families of East Durham, North County.

HelpForce Community Trust
To support HelpForce Community Trust to see the power of intervening in early childhood and social care for young people across the UK. HelpForce believes that children can lead happy, healthy lives if they get the help and support they need. This grant will help enable Marie Curie to deliver a new model of locally-delivered, clinically coordinated care in the UK to better meet the needs of its patients and families. HelpForce will also provide for national and regional coordination of the service delivery model that will increase its reach while providing individualised support and addressing the need for support and training.
